HROUGHOUT the years the administration and faculty guide the students of Indiana State Teachers College. Always striving to meet individual needs, they extend a helping hand to each student struggling with social as well as scholastic problems. They work untiringly assisting every member in opening the doors of opportunity that lead to a better, brighter future. Without claim for recognition or honor, they patienily serve, offering wise counsel and encouragement where needed. The administration and faculty of Indiana are our guardians, not only of the present-but they are indeed Guardians of Our Future.

Leading the steps of the students to the paths of success as teachers we find our president and his aides, the faculty and the Board of Trustees. Through their democratic standards the Freshman is given confidence. By their invaluable advice and encouragement, by their sincere interest in his welfare and in developing his strengths, the Sophomore is aided in solving his problems. In their outstanding personalities the Junior sees a style to copy for getting along with others. From their life patterns of superior scholarship, integrity, progressive ideas and success, the Senior molds the form of his future. They are the keepers of the keys that unlock the doors to knowledge-a knowledge not based entirely upon books. They have uncomplainingly helped the student through many difficulties and rejoiced over his accomplishments. As the transition from shy Freshman to self-assured Senior was made so will the Senior change from a student of teaching to a teacher of students. We are proud of them-the Guardians of our Future.

Deans and

Dr Heiges, Dean of Instruction, is chiefly concerned with needs for teaching preparation under which come credit evaluation, courses of study, and departmental organization His advice, both wise and friendly, accounts for his popularity.

In his years of dealing with college men and women, Dean Whitmyre has shown great ability in seeing matters from the point of view of the student His versathlity is exemplified by his position as Dean of Men, as well as head of the Social Studies Department and faculty advisor of the Student Council.

Mr. Shuster, Bursar
Directur
Assistant Dean of Women.

Administrative Assistants

The assistant Dean of Women, Dr Dorcas Hall, devotes much time to aiding young women in the Y. W. C. A. and Non Resident Women's League, and in sponsoring Vesper services. In addition to these many duties, she is a popular member of the faculty in the Social Studies Department.

To offer social guidance to the women of Indiana is one of the chief concerns of Miss Florence Kimball, Dean of Women. She is interested in the creative as well as the social development of the students as is shown by her participation on the Creative Arts Committee. In addition she sponsors the Panhellenic Association and the Resident Women's League.

Miss Esch, Registrar.

Mr. Woodring,
Treosurer of Student
Cooperative Assaciation.

EDUCATION

The Education Department, with Mr. Ralph B. Beard as head, has recently made an analysis of the courses in education studying overlapping, gaps, or sequence of subject matter. A survey of the available references was made, followed by a suggestion that the library purchase additional material. A program was initiated this year whereby students are made familiar with important phases of educational organizations. The purpose and organization of the State department, accrediting agencies, and professional associations have been explained. The student learned to distinguish between the types of certificates; he learned specifically what he must do regarding his certificate, the kinds of degrees, and how they may be obtained. The Education Department offers courses that form the basis for teaching in all departments, regular or special.

SUPERVISING TEACHERS

Three years of the college students school days are spent in preparation for that most important phase-student teaching. While attending classes the foundation is laid upon which that final test of achievement is built. Upon becoming a senior he is placed in a new environment where his superior is not just a teacher but a supervising teacher. It is she who gives inspiration and guidance to the student teacher. During this period the subject matter and the theory of teaching are integrated with actual experience. Under this direction the prospective teacher learns to organize and plan classroom work, and is shown how to conduct the best possible school activity. The supervising teacher through individual conferences aids the student to capitalize upon his strengths and to minimize his weaknesses.

SECONDARY

The Secondary Education Department prepares teachers for junior and senior high schools. In this department a student may choose to have certification in one or more fields: Social Studies, Mathematics, Foreign Languages, English, Geography, Science. There have been some temporary and permanent changes in the faculty and a continued shortage of male students due to wartime conditions, but the enrollment of the department has been increased again this year by the Nurse Cadet Corps. One group each semester filled the science, psychology, and sociology classes to capacity in addition to the special courses relative to the nursing profession. The Secondaries show versatility in many extra-curricular as well as curricular activities. Emphasis this year was placed on making preparations for the returning war veterans. Miss Joy Mahachek is the head of this department.

ELEMENTARY

For these results are the faculty of the Elementary Department striving: to send efficient, well-prepared elementary teachers into the public schools; to encourage specialization of these teachers in one or two fields rather than in general courses; to set up a logical sequence of courses that students may be better prepared. In former years it has been the practice of students in this department to take their electives in a wide range of subjects. This year the Elementary Department of which Mr. Ralph Beard is head has tried to encourage students to select their electives in a single field. In addition, a system has been set up whereby students must take courses in logical sequence. Through careful planning this process is facilitated by proper arrangement of student programs. This year the addition of Miss Laverne Strong, who replaced Miss Lillian McLean, has proven most satisfactory. Miss Strong came to Indiana from Richmond, Indiana, where she was the head of Elementary Education; she has also served as assistant to Dr. Betz, director of reading at Pennsylvania State College.

Miss Mahachek, Head of Department.

Mrs. Bieghler

Boyts, Zinc, Acting Head of Department.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

To enable the students to read, write, and speak the language in which they are interested is the major aim of the Foreign Language Department. Although stress is placed on skills, cultural information about the country whose language is being studied is also presented. The rising demand for people with such knowledge is attracting a larger number of students to this curriculum. To fulfill the demands courses have been opened to all who wish to broaden their education as well as to those who are seeking certification in this field. Mrs. Bieghler is substituting for Dr. Edward Bieghler who is serving in the armed forces.

GEOGRAPHY

The Geography Department, in addition to training specialists in geographic education, has aided in the war effort by offering courses in cartography, meteorology, commercial air transportation, and world problems Commercial air transportation deals with such items as freedom of the air, ownership and control of airlines, strategic locations for bases and future air routes. World Problems in Ceography takes up such items as the interpretation of news, the geographic background of changing boundaries, and the feeding of European refugees. A study of the history, interpretation, and special types of maps comprise an interesting and valuable new course.

ENGLISH

Barbor, Littlefield, Ridenour

Personnel changes marked the year for the English Deartment. Three staff members were granted leaves of absence-Miss Margaret Stitt and Miss Ruth Knowles for the year, Mrs. Carrie Belle Norton for a semester. Replacing Miss Stitt were Dr. Reid Sterrett, Western Kentucky State Teachers College, for the first semester, and Dr. Abigall Boardman, New York University, for the second.

LIBRARY

During this college year it has been gratifying to see students using the library more and more. In order to provide some of the current fiction which many want to read, Student Council gave one-hundred dollars to establish a Rental Library which is proving popular. Several donations of money for the purchase of books have been appreciated.

Miss Mahachek,
Head of Department.

MATHEMATICS

The demand for trained teachers of mathematics has increased during the past year In this field, as in industry, a girl adequately prepared has released a man for armed service on many occasions. Emphasis for both men and women teachers of mathematics has not only been placed on mathematics needed by youth for war service but also on that needed by an intelligent citizenry to meet the problem of democratic living.

SCIENCE

The Science Department trained approximately two hundred nurse cadets in addition to its work with the regular students. Science in the war was stressed in all classes where many substitute materials and synthetics were studied carefully. The physics classes, taught by Mr. McKelvey, were enlarged to meet the needs of those men who are returning from or entering military service. The newly reorganized laboratories have proven invaluable in research. Dr. Willis Bell was added to the faculty of the biological science department which had an increase in enrollment.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Although emphasis is placed on the technique of teaching heaith and physical education in the public schools, the health of the college student is also the concern of the Physical Education Department. In addition to these activities it also directs intramural sports, provides training in individual skills, gives instruction in Safety Education and in First Aid.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Studying the causes of increasing world turmoil and its effect upon future generations is of particular interest to the Social Studies Department. By delving into past history the roots of present day problems were found. Classes were made interesting with the discussion of social and political issues and current events. The aim of this department is to prepare teachers who are not only well informed in history of the past but who are keenly aware of the importance of current events.

ART

The enrollment of the Art Department is steadily increasing because of its established reputation for thorough preparation in art education. Its curriculum permits the prospective artist-teacher to specialize in one or more art fields while he is securing a broad cultural background in art and general education This year more courses were opened to members of other departments. Among these were Theater and Industrial Arts. Exhibitions include the work of the faculty, of the students, and of artist members of the community. The success of the Art Department is reflected in the enviable records of its graduates

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The Business Education Department is designed as one in which commercial teachers for the high schools of the Commonwealth may be trained. An excellent opportunity is available here for men and women who possess the ability, personality, and ambition requisite for success in this type of work. The practice department, equipped for efficient and up-todate work with a full supply of modern office machines, includes not only the procedure but also the actual atmosphere and environment of the modern business world.

HOME ECONOMICS

All experiences, in or out of the classroom, are a part of the Home Economics picture. The tendency is toward an integration of general and vocational education emphasizing ihe social approach. A faculty composed of specialists dedicated to appreciating with students the experiences of a vital program in Home Eccnomics makes this possible. Practical values are stressed in food preservation, meal planning, and the purchasing of household commodities. Care and direct observation of young children in the Nursery School, managerial experience in the cafeteria, and experıence in Home Management House provide practice in this field.

MUSIC EDUCATION

The Music Education Department is founded on the aesthetic basis of producing musicians and music educators. In pursuance of the aims to present the best of music to the students, the Department teaches various subjects that tend to create fine musicianship. It not only offers academic courses in eartraining, harmony, and sight-reading, together with skill techniques in voice and all orchestral instruments, but also stresses the historical development of the art. Music for school programs is supervised by and often evolves directly from this department

Sheaking of Faculty...

By their words ye shall know them' (See page 151). "Now gutterly speaking 'Trite!"
"Keep your eye on your dear teacher.
"This business of art
"I got a letter this morning from one of our boys "Now remember what I've said about the English and the Americans."
"Now get this, get this point Here's the meat in the thing.
"Notice, if you please.
"Remember I'm right; you're wrong
(Calling roll) "Dr Cartwright, Reverend Kenton
"If you have a little spare time write a sonnet or two, a short story and a villanelle
"Please see me at your earliest convenience."

REETINGS, student, you're in the limelight! Yes, all attention is herein focused upon you, class member. Every year, your group-and you were in there pitching-has combined social service with social life. You helped sell bonds and stamps, you gave your blood, and even while planning that traditional class event of the year, you were checking the bank account to be certain that you could contribute more than your share to the Red Cross and W.S.S.F. Drives. Indiana salutes you. You are the People of the Year.

FOUR SHORT YEARS TOGETHER

In September 1941, three short months before that fateful day when war became something more than a headline in the newspapers, we launched our college careers at Indiana State Teachrs College. Some of us had come to further our cultural education, a few came for social purposes, but we each had a definite goal in mind Our class was a large one, and in spite of conscription we even had some boys start the journey with us. Most of the boys knew what lay ahead of them, but were determined to get a head start in their life work. Few of us harbored thoughts that war would interrupt our lives so completely. Such was our general make-up-we who were the last Freshmen to enter college before the United States went to war. The adjustment to college life was hard but by November that Frosh look was pretty well rubbed out. And then the rocking news came that changed the paths of so many. After December 7, 1941, the happy-go-lucky Freshman was gone. In his place a mature person stood, one who read the news frantically, unfolded maps eagerly, noticed the disappearance of the vengeful upperclassmen slowly take place. The boys finally found the induction center where they signed the papers that meant the postponement of their personal ambitions. Those who were not accepted immediately were placed in the reserve corps. We girls made a solemn, silent promise to continue in our chosen work devoting every possible second to the hastening of their return. It was quite a different class who said their 'so longs' in May-a sober, determined one.

THE SENIOR CLASS

Kautz, Templeton, Hamners, Sparks, Huey

In September, a few more of the original members of the class were conspicuous by their absence. Those of us who did return devoted all our time and effort to the purpose of keeping that sacred for which our classmates were fighting-yes, even giving their lives so soon. A bond was formed by this common purpose that held the class closer than ever before. We worked out together the additional responsibilities we would shoulder to aid in the war effort. That year the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Army and the Naval Reserve called to active duty many of the Sophomore boys.

By September, 1943, rationing, V-mail, A. P. O., Red Cross, U. S. O. became part of everyone's vocabulary. North Africa, Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Corregidor became realties rather than place names, and the censor's stamp a matter of course, no longer a novelty. But still we warked on together-sharing our joys and heartaches.

And now it is May 1945. We are about to spread our influence about the world. The awe we felt as Freshmen returns; the purpose we had as Sophomores flames high within us; the cooperation we developed as Juniors and Seniors working toward the same goal binds us still. All of these, now part of us, we take with us as we enter the future. As we look back we find it has not been long We have a life ahead of us: Problems to solve, decisions to make. But as we leave the campus, the faculty, and classmates we have learned to love, we regret that we have had but four short years together.

Following their established reputaton as a group which accomplishes things, the Juniors set about the activities of the year in their usual enthusiastic manner. Although many were missing from their original group of freshman, the bonds of loyalty and spirit for their beloved Alma Mater still held steadfast.

Remembering all of their former classmates and friends who are now serving our country in battlefields all over the world, they welcomed the opportunity to make a generous contribution to the World Student Service Fund Each member of the Class of 1946 who had been called into service was remembered at Christmas with a card, personalized by a special greeting from all members of the class. They chose a day in which to sponsor the sale of war bonds and stamps and cooperated not only by selling but felt the need to be represented also in the buying.

JUNICRS

To relieve the strain of depressing war-time activity and busy schedules, a class party was held at the College Lodge in honor of Saint Valentine's Day. Trimmed in a whity lacy fringe, the large red hearts and unique favors added to the atmosphere of the party. After dinner and dancing, the evening of festivity was climaxed by an entertaining program which gave the class an opportunity to display some of its fine talent.

The Juniors look back upon their days at ISTC and, reluctantly, admit that the bulk of them is gone. Their activities prove that they are making the most of their opportunities and show beyond a doubt that they will become Seniors of whom their Alma Mater can be proud.

sOPHOMORES

Last year's Freshies, next year's Juniors, but definitely part of the Indiana State Teachers College family. That's the Sophomore class this year; always on the go. Naturally one half of the "go" was pleasure, but can you blame them?

To start the year off right they had a party. Their party was different. It was not a party for the class members themselves but for the children of Willard Home. At this affarr held in December it is reported that the members of the class had more fun than did the children-although the children had fun, too. Next came Christmas, and the Sophomores, not to be outdone by others, lent their hands to the wreath making for Deshon Hospital in Butler, Pennsylvania. It proved a good morale builder for two parties: the soldiers in the hospital and the Sophomores who helped. Then for some well earned fun. The class party was held at the College Lodge in January. The deep snow, grand eats, and entertaining program all contributed to a superelegant evening.

Patriotically inclined, for personal and general reasons, the class took its turn selling war bonds and stamps Quite a success, too. As a group and individually, they were on call to help their Alma Mater or the war effort All those who could donated blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank; all donated to the W.S.S. F. They were the enthusiastic Writers-of-a-Letter Week.

Members of the class are truly grateful for the constructive help and guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Lawrence C. Stitt, who will leave for the armed forces at the close of this year. He has been a friend in need to them, and the Sophomores will miss his gracious smile and helpful counsel next year. They have given him a send-off that will prove their appreciation more than words.

FRESHMEN

The class of 1948 made its debut in September with a rousing spirit comparable to that of any army about to conquer. This spirit has made an outstanding group in many respects. The first task that confronted the beginning Freshman was orienting himself to college life; this meant adjusting himself from the high ranking high school senior to the youngest and most immature college student. This process under the guardianship of Mr. Paul Risheberger was a rapid one, and now there is no Frosh who is not an eligible Sophomore.

The means through which the class reached this end were both social and professional in nature. The Christmas party at the Lodge in December, their outstanding modern rendition of "The Night Before Christmas" at the formal Christmas party, and their own Spring formal in April were instances proving their rapid social adjustment. Through their classes, which are chiefly introductory courses, and the advice of their sponsor they began to achieve a philosophy of life and education which will lead them to the highway of success.

ACH month brings its own special activities for the student. A celebrity or two to entertain with music, dance or talk appears on the scene. The amateur but very profes-sional-like dramatic and musical programs presented by student groups supplementing this schedule are enjoyed as thoroughly. Such events as the departmental Fall and Spring outings at the Lodge, the Christmas parties, the breakfasts and dinners, and especially the Saturday night dances make up the informal social times. Recall rhat favorite cultural life program, that wonderful dance, that gala party? These were the Highlights of the Monith.

Activities crowd our days...

Activities? Sure, lots of 'em' Parties--Saturday night's not the loneliest night of the year Departments helped, lots and lots of fun. Classes, too-each had a night. Other campus organizations not to be outdone. All student talent, all student participation, all students invited More parties - College Lodge. Elementaries, Secondaries, Home Ecs, Bus Eds, Art, Music-all there. Eats, too. Games exciting, skits humorous. Good time had by all-remember? Orchestra nights-Billy Lewis. Almost "big name band" fun! Who says we don't have dances around here?

Cultural life-have your "I" card" Opera-'"La Traviata," classical and beautiful. Remember, all you boys and girls? American ballad singers-songs to remember. You don't forget Angna Enters, famous mime. Robert Kitain, Russian violinist. He made those strings vibrate with "out of this world" music. Ah, that baritone, Donald Dickson in person Still swooning over him? Ticklin' the ivories Egon Petrishades of the departed masters. Good, wasn't he? Learning new things-Rotary Institute lectures. Russia, China, Australia, North America-used to be names on maps, but now!

Plays, too. Dr. Sterrett's "Uncle Harry." Three acts of suspense, great cast! Hometown (or campus) gal makes good' Billie Speelman's a new playright. Remember "Room 119," Tisha's actions, Paulette's friendliness? All girl cast. After D'r. Sterrett, Dr. Abigail Boardman. Spring production of "The Swan." Laughs and more laughs.

Who says we don't have fun? Don't the pictures tell the opposite story? Good pictures of good times. Recognize yourself, reader? That's you over there being very active in the activities of the month.

Dramatics...

Remember "Uncle Harry"? That was the first dramatic presentation of the year at Indiana The three act play directed by Dr Reid Sterrett, starring Nancy Race, Billie Speelman, and Don Rubb was considered a complete success

Later in the season, Bilte Speelman's original one act play, "Room 119, was presented College dormitory life was depicted with such authenticity that the story seemed more like a real situation than an imaginary one.

Scenes from the three act play, "Uncle Hurry

In May, the annual spring production directed by Dr. Abıgail Boardman was "The Swan." Male as well as female roles were acted by girls. With the addition of make-up and costuming the actresses succeeded in portraying these characterizations in a manner very satisfying to a large audience

ROM Sunday to Saturday - meetings, meetings, meetings! The week begins with Sunday School and church, the college church club members usually attending en masse. Later, the group may have a party or at least a meeting. Monday through Saturday campus organization get-togethers seemingly predominate regular roufine. Thursday evening, the sororities and fraternities hash over the old and deal with the new business. Another evening fellow department members may meet to learn what's new in education in their field. Choir, band, and orchestra practice offer the musically inclined students still another opportunity to be rogether. These gatherings of classmates with mutual interests are closed reluctantly; however, the parting is not for long—these are the Events of the Week.

Alpha Omega is an honorary geography fraternity whose purpose is to further professional interests and to furnish contacts in the field. To be eligible for membership in this fraternity at least nine houre of geography must have been completed with a " $B$ " average Only majors and minors in this field may qualify Upon having achieved the scholastic requirements the applicant must then submit a project that deals with an important phase of geography. Much originality has been displayed in the development of that requirement. The Indiana chapter of Alpha Omega has not been slow in gaining recognition The president, Miss Jean Hardy, published in the December issue of The Journal of Geography a paper entitled "The Beehives Are Glowing," which deals with the coke ovens of Pennsylvania.

This fraternity is not entirely professional as is shown by the many social functions held this year. The new term was started with an outing at the College Lodge for members and geography-minded friends. In December the Christmas party which took place at the Activities Cottage set the Yuletıde off on a merry nore The annual dinner, featuring several guest speakers, was held in January at Mrs. Thompson's Tea Room. In true Indıana fashion, the Spring outing was held at the Lodge, bringing to a close another year of activity and, for many members, the close of their college days. Alpha Omegans mindful of the responsibilities war places upon them sponsored a successful bond and stamp sale as well as letter writing sessions to former members now in the armed services.

Kappa Omicron Phi

Tau chapter began the new year with ten enthusiastic members and five anxious pledges Our first event was the annual fall outing at the Lodge with the Home Economics faculty as guests. Someone's culinary talent was certainly displayed in those hamburg barbeques.

December brought our formal Founder's Day-one that will never be forgotten by Tau members for it was then that the letter from the National President brought the news that the Efficiency Placque was ours to keep.

In February we were visited by Mrs. Thelma Downing, our former sponsor, who was on an inspection tour from the National Council. During her visit a dessert was served by our patronesses: Mrs. Sollberger, Mrs Heiges, and Miss Brenneman.

On May 6th we honored our mothers at a tea. With spring comes farewells-ours for the three graduating Seniors was held at the Country Club. So ended another year for the Tau Chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi, National Professional Home Economics Fraternity.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi, national Honor Society in Education, as stated in its charter is "-to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize contributrons to education. To this end it shall invite to membership such persons as exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educatronal ideals, and sound scholarship. It shall endeavor to maintain a high degree of professional fellowship among its members and to quicken "professional growth by honoring achievement in education work."

In accordance with these aims Beta Camma Chapter carried out two projects and presented a varied program to its members. Dr George S Counts, recently elected Laureate Member, presented his evaluation of Russia as a member of the community of nations gaıned from his experience while working there. Miss Alice St. Clair described in detall the modern, well-managed Nursery School of the Kaiser Ship Yard in Portland, Oregon, and her work there during the past summer A panel of students representing the various departments of the college discussed the place of the holiday observance-religious, patriotic, and traditional-folk-in the general school program and in subject fields. Mrs. Marlin showed slides of the locales of various Army camps of the United States.

Feeling the need of students who are in emergency situations created by the war, the society again participated in their relief, contributing through the Campus War Chest A large sum was given to the World Student Service Fund. Books are being furnished to student internees and prisoners of war who are endeavoring to carry on their education during their period of enforced inactivity. Allowances for food, gifts of clothing and study materials, and medical attention are being given to other students to whom the misfortunes of war are but an added challenge to continue their education.

Beta Gamma Chapter has also established a scholarship to be awarded each semester to a deserving student.

Kappa Delta Pi was incorporated as a national organization in 1911 at the University of Illinois. The Indiana Chapter was established May 19, 1928.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Pi Omega Pi

Pi Omega Pi, national honorary Business Education fraternity, has as its purpose the promotion of high ethical standards in business and commerce and of interest in commerce in the schools and in professional life. The Kappa chapter was established at I. S. T. C. in 1929

In keeping with present times Kappa chapter has endeavored to develop its program this year along more serious lines. In spite of the war and the resulting reduction in the enrollment of the school, the scholastic standards necessary for qualification for membership have not been lowered At the first meeting in October, seven proud members of the Business Education Department were initiated In February this year new students who met the necessary requirements were pledged.

In the promotion of interest in commerce in the schools, PI Omega Pi dealt with the professional problems of its members, whether of a teaching nature or student adjustment. Fraternity members discussed with each other in round table fashion problems that face them as Business Education people. At the meetings student teachers presented difficulties that had arisen. New developments in the field of business were given full attention.

The social life of Pi Omega Pi members were not neglected. Special affairs were held by the group; among these were outings at the Lodge and holiday parties

The almost totally feminine membership of the society drew their attention sharply to the grim war at hand. At Christmas, this fact in mind, Pi Omegans remembered their fraternity brothers now in the armed services by sending Christmas cards to them.

HAVE MANY DUTIES

Panhellenic Asscciation, composed of representatives from the six educational sororities, is organized to broaden and enrich friendship among the sororities and to further their interests. To establish standards of excellence along every line of sorority endeavor as an organization, as a factor in college, and as a force in the lives of undergraduate members is a primary object of Panhellenic. This group also serves as a forum for the discussion of all matters of interest to the sororities.

Although many of the activities of Panhellenic are businesslike in nature it upholds the basis of its social foundation by contributing fcrms of entertainment for the members and the student bedy. In October Freshmen and new students met, danced with, and enjoyed the company of Panhellenic members in the now-traditional Coffee Hour, an after dinner social period held in Recreation Hall. An all-school party early in the second semester featured a program made up of five minutes of fun contributed by each sorority.

Members of this group, not unlike the entire Indiana student body, were not unaware of the additional stress of another year at war. Setting the example to be followed by the constituent groups, Panhellenic contributed generously to W. S. S. F., sponsored a bond and stamp sale, and took part in other activities undertaken to shorten the war and to aid in the relief of wartorn countries.

"Alpha Sigs"

Alpha Gamma Chapter has had a busy year not only sharing as much as possible in the campus war projects, but socially as well. Rushing, theatre parties, the Founders' Day luncheon, the circus out at the lodge, the lovely Christmas party, cur Senior breakfast, and Mothers' Day luncheon all highlighted a very memorable year.

In March, we held our formal party and everyone was tense until the night of pledging. Our beautiful ceremony was another reminder of the high standards we are constantly trying to maintain, and the loyalty and friendships we gain through association with our Alpha Sig sisters. It reminded us, too, of the small group who organized Alpha Sigma Alpha at Farmville, Virgınia, in 1901, and those who established Alpha Gamma Chapter on this campus.

During this year we have been working in coordination with other chapters as a result of a detailed program, Leadership in Alpha Sigma Alpha, presented by our national president, Mrs. Wilma Wilson Sharp. This has brought us in even closer contact with the national organization.

We have been happy to have many of our alumnae back with us this year, especially one of cur former presidents, Sally Hawkins, whom we invited as our guest since a national officer was unable to come for the annual visit

As the year came to an end we realized that it meant saying "goodbye" to many of our sisters for good We wish them all success and happiness, and we hope that membership in Alpha Sigma Alpha has made them better women for the tasks they will meet

"The Taus"

Twenty-two enthusiastic Taus returned to the Indiana campus in September, ready and anxious to get all we could from the new year ahead-yet not forgetting we were in our fourth year of war.

Eager to be together, we rounded up all of our sisters for a theater party followed by cokes at "Stapleton's," where we rehashed the memories of the shore, camp counselling, working in Washington, D. C. and even Summer School.

Pledges as well as members worked hard in preparation for the visit of Mrs. Staehle, our national president who greatly inspired the Delta Chapter girls.

Cokes at the "Dell," in the Smoker, Friday-nite movies, conversation, Cultural Life programs, and the dances were just a few of the opportunities the Taus had to meet the fine crop of Freshmen, some of whom attended the informal rush party. On the heels of this came the glamorous formal rush party which was an overwhelming success. Silence period followed the party, during which time many anxious hours were spent wondering who. Pledging, then true to Tau tradition, cherry pie a la mode was served. Filling up the calendar (and pledge books) for two weeks were duties, poems, and black marks. As a great climax the Senior picnic and the Mother's Day tea drew the curtain on another full year for Alpha Sigma Tau members.

November 17, 1944, Pi Kappa Sigma, the oldest of the Association of Education Sororities, celebrated its Golden Anniversary with a Founders' Day Bridge at the Activities Cottage. This summer the Pi Kaps from the Atlantic to the Pacific will gather at Ypsilanti, Michigan, the home of Pi Kappa Sigma, to celebrate nationally its fiftieth birthday.

In the fall the Pi Kaps attended a Founders' Day Banquet given by the Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter. The Greenwich Village party held at the school lodge with the burning candles casting mellow shadows upon artist, musician, and author friends added to the gaiety of our year together. We will never forget the good times we had at the dinners at the Chicken Pie Shop, the card parties, the hilarious picnics, the breakfasts at dayybreak, and the formal rush party. The theater party and refreshments given by the Pi Kaps "little sisters" for their "big sisters" was great fun. How grand it is to gather together in the apartment of our cherished sponsor, Miss Hart, for an evening of merriment.

The members of Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority believe that the lessons of sorority life, learned while striving together in sisterly love for social efficiency, intellectual growth, and moral development, will make them more tender and true to the best interest of the world's sisterhood.

ANNOUNCER: From station Sigma Sigma Sigma, the powerful twentysix watter, we now bring you a brief resume of Sigma session, reported by your Sigma Snooper.
SICMA SNOOPER: Hello everybody! I'm back again to round out the Sigma Session for the year 1945. Starting off on the double, the gals entertained their first alumnae visitor, Mrs. John Norton Soon after that, the institution of Friday night dinner and movie started. On Sunday, after dinner you could always find Tri Sigs and their friends grouped around the piano in the Lounge singing to their heart's content. Something new for this year was the monthlybridge parties at the home of the sponsor, Miss Zimmerman; these were started in November and continued throughout the year much to the pleasure of all. Then came that April week end in Pittsburgh when actives of Lambda joined the Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter in the celebration of Founders' Day. But Tri Sig had her serious moments too doing her share for the war effort which included sponsoring the sale of war bonds and stamps, making Christmas wreaths for the Deshon Hospital, assisting in the sending of mail to service men and women, and by donating blood to the Red Cross. One of the most treasured memories of Tri Sig lies in the deep thrill, quiet beauty and impressiveness of pledging and initiation ceremonies. These events brought a fitting climax to a very happy year for Lambda. We have formed friendships and gained memories that are a part of us-the part which builds better and finer women.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Abstract

"Wish we were back in the Tau House again this year" -_"Yeah! Well, we'll be back again soon." - "Come on, you guys, we'll be late for the meeting."-_"I move the secretary be chastised thoroughly for that last remark." --."We'll now have the report of the Committee on

Such runs the conversation of the Taus this year. Memories are many and rich since the Seniors have behind them three years in the Frat house to reminisce on. Recollections of days when every room was filled and the open-aid third-floor sleeping quarters had doubledecker beds for thirty men. The big electric Tau sign is down now, but already plans are being made for a grand reopening, when circumstances permit, and the sign will again shine forth to guide its men home.

Sigma Tau Camma remained active this year even though enrollment was small. Professional meetings were held regularly. Mr. James Park, former member of the American Consulate at Bayreuth, India, and many other places in the Near East, was made an honorary member. Often at informal outings he and Mr. Smay combined culinary talents and prepared the famous Smay chili and the equally potent Park green salad. The Taus advanced in social affairs by holding several planned parties to which our members all brought guests. At these clambakes, in accordance with tradition, the circle was formed and the well-known songs were sung. In these ways has Sigma Tau Gamma, Pi Chapter, kept the spirit of fraternity alive on campus this year.

Goodwill

The Religious Organizations on the Indiana campus are the Erskine Club for the members of the United Presbyterian Church, the Newman Club for those of the Roman Catholic Church, the Methodist Club, the First Presbyterian College Class, the Lutheran Club, and the Young Women's Christian Association, a general organization for all. These groups sponsor the Spiritual Enrichment Week at which time matters concerning racial and religious controversies, and national activities in which the clubs may participate are suggested and explained

The members of the various clubs find an opportunity to discuss their problems through their common membership in the YWCA, the organization which enters the life of the Freshman girl by providing her with a Big Sister to help her adjust to college living. Increasing world turmoil has made these clubs even more conscious of the importance of minimizing their religious differences and of stressing the democratic ideals for which the war is being fought.

The various organizations of the Music Department are open to students interested in participating in music actarities. Recitals are held both in Reception Lounge and in the department. Those held in Reception Lounge are variety programs consisting of vocal, instrumental, and piano solos, while those held in the department are either piano or vocal programs. All recitals are open to everyone.

The String Orchestra under the direction of Miss Pearl Reed and the Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Stitt brought pleasure to both the audience and performers. The String Orchestra played for the White Gift and the Union Services

This year the enrollment of several additional men made it possible for a Mixed Chorus to be organized The Vesper Choir conducted by Miss Laura Remsberg appeared regularly at the Sunday evening Vesper services, as well as for the Thanksgiving Burning Altar program and the Christmas White Gift Service.

The Women's Choir conducted by Mrs. Esther Coulange also sang for Vesper services several times during the year. A trip to the Deshon Hospital, a Spring Concert, and singing for Sunday services in the local churches comprised the main events of the year. The band conducted by Dr. Irving Cheyette played for assemblies and radio programs.

ART CLUB

For twenty years Indiana has had an Art Club composed of Art majors and other interested students. This year, an honorary art fraternity, Delta Phi, was organized with students having the highest scholastic averages eligible to join. Thus far, twelve students have been initrated. At the present time, Delta Phi is a local fraternity, but it plans to become national within the year.

ELEMENTARY CLUB

The Elementary Education Club has as its objective the social and professional growth of all students in that department. At the monthly meetings new trends in Elementary Education were discussed. One of its most important activities was the entertaining of children at the Willard Home. The Fall outing and the Spring banquet were important social occasions.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

All the members of the Home Economics Department belong to the Home Economics Club Among the many activities of the club were the teas to which the entire school was invited, parties at the Lodge, preparing baskets for the needy, and a Christmas party. This highly gratifying year was concluded by the annual May Day Breakfast.

SECONDARY EDUCATION

MUSIC EDUCATORS

Each month the Music Club, composed of the members of the Music Department, sponsored a recital-tea which was open to the entire student body. Groups within the department alternated in performing the duties of host. The week preceding Christmas vacation was highlighted by several all-school Christmas musicales. A banquet completed the many functions of the club.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is comprised of the members of the Business Education Department. At the annual Fall outing the Freshmen became better acquainted with the members of the organization. The club sponsored a March of Dimes and a rummage sale to provide funds to entertain the children from the Willard Home. Climaxing the year was the farewell party in May at the College Lodge.

SECONDARY EDUCATION CLUB

Because the interests of the Secondary Education Club are varied, it attempts to acquaint its members with each other and their respective fields. The organization has endeavored to promote a greater solidarity on campus and a consciousness of the teaching profession. Activities consisted of Fall and Spring outings at the Lodge and several professional meetings to stimulate interest.

Abstract

I, SIS, where are you going?" "To class, have to hurry, almost late"-_"That test was tough"-_"Finished your experiment yet?"-"The Doc was on a rampage today; he took our assignments"-_"Did you get the last three problems?"-such bits of collegiate chatter are gleaned about the campus. The ncise of busy students sewing, cooking, painting, typing, experimenting, singing, and adding resounds until the final bell rings ending the day of classes. From across the way come the shouts of guys and gals involved in exciting games. In the offices of the student publications, news reports and pictures of school and spare time activities are noted-the Activities of the Day.

GYM CLASSES

Batters up-strike one-strike two-it's a good one-run! Out on third' You might guess it; it's mushball, the favorite Fall sport

Brisk days tound the girls on the hockey field chasing up and down after the ball striving for the goal; and then as Fall passed on into Winter, classes were resumed in the gym; it was an interesting sight to watch the unison displayed in calisthenics, and various forms of folk dancing. "One, two, threestretch One, two, three-bend. That's it' Be sure your hands touch the floor. Meet your partner; greet her; swing her round and round.

Other activities include relays, volleyball, and instruction in the teaching of games in the school The second semester brought that fast, breath-tak. ing game of basketball. Teams were drawn up and a form of tournament was played in class. The Physi cal Education Department offers each girl a wellrounded course in calisthenics, sports, and games so that not only is physical activity looked upon as a requirement but as an opportunity to relax from the regular grind of the day

TOURNAMENTS

There had to be a beginning to the competition which did not prove to be too tough for the Dodgers, the final winners of the 1944 volleyball tournament It all began one Monday night in November when eight teams were drawn up under the original names of the Stooges, Gravel Certies, Dodgers, Brown Bombettes, Orphans, Jugglers, Sampsonettes, and Sad Sacks. Confident of their agility and ability in playing volleyball the Dodgers got off to a good start They worked together on every play, which is, by the way, the secret of all good team work. Strong serves and good returns were also two of their winning qualities. It is interesting to note that the same team that won last year was again the banner holder. With the exception of one player, Betty Wallace, who because of other activities was replaced by Ruth Reynolds Norris, the same girls participated Lila Jean Frederick, Evelyn Kuhns, Lisa Polman, Eleanor Jenkins, Mary Ann Simkovich, Mary Mazzei, and Ellen Mae Sayers, captain. Congratulatıons girls, you did a beautiful job.

Indiana in Action

FIRST AID

The students in the first aid classes did a good job of camouflaging some poor human guinea pig. Fraction splints and all types of bandages completed the personified mummy. It is a wonder that actual first aid did not have to be rendered to some of the victims after the novices had finished practicing on them. As in life saving the Red Cross standard course of study was followed and upon its completion certificates were awarded. This class was open to persons enrolled in any department and, much to their advantage, many took the opportunity presented

LIFE SAVING

Life saving was offered to all those students who had passed their college swimming test and had mastered the fundamentals of the various strokes. Part of each class period was devoted to the discussion of water safety, forms of rescue, and resuscitation while the other part was spent in actual practice. Emphasis was placed upon special forms of rescue. Each student who successfully qualified under Red Cross Standards was issued a Life Saving Certificate. This was enrollment in the instructors course which was presented in April by a representative from the Red Cross headquarters.

W. V. I.

The aim of every athletic minded girl on campus is to obtain enough points to qualify for W.V.I. These can only be secured through hard work and eager participation in all sports. Girls achieving this goal are to to be admired for therr fine display of leadership, sportmanship, and physical fitness. W. V. I became very active on campus this year and just after the beginning of the second semester officers were elected

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Ya goin' to the game this afternoon?-game? What game? And where?-The game between Indiana and California in the gym, dope!

That's right. Once again the bleachers are let down; cheerleaders don their red skirts and white sweaters; and students air their lungs in a rousing cheer for an I.S.T.C. basketball team.

In spite of scores, excitement at the last game was no lower pitched than that at the first. The score does not always tell the all. For Indiana the joy of having a team made it a winner

The opener was played with California as our opponents. Quick thinking, sure shooting Al Mauro captained the boys in a fast moving game that exemplified excellent teamwork in spite of the short practice tıme. California chalked up a victor, but I.S.T C. had achieved her goal - the revival of intramural sports. Other opponents were St Vincent, Slippery Rock, and St. Francis.

Let's give three cheers for Mr. George Miller and Al Mauro who jointly coached our team; for Bill Cartwright, George Douglass, Glen Ewer, Norbert Freebourn, Neil Guest, Leo Kenton, Jay Matchit, Bill Myers, and Bill Treese who brought out of its dark closet the Indiana spirit.

We Whete It

You Read Jt

How can I word this?
The busy business stoff

Yes sir, it's all yours. We've tried to make it the kind of a yearbook you'd be proud to show around. Have we succeeded?

Of course, we'd be nowhere without the very helpful aid of our faculty advisors. Mr. Ralph Reynolds, our sponsor, assisted in planning the general layout as well as the artistic phase of the entire book. With him, the editor and business manager made the contacts necessary in publishing a book of this nature. Our finances were handled by Mr. E. J. McLuckie. Mr. Wilbur Emmert, faculty photographer, and Mr. Paul Boyts were invaluable in securing pictures of our men and women in the service. Part of the credit for the success of this annual should be given to the students and faculty who cooperated in making possible the pictures that appear and the written work. For your patience in posing in all kinds of weather and for giving us bits of information which we wrote up, we pay a special vote of thanks to all of you.

Composed of four representatives from the Senior class, four from the Junior class, three from the Sophomore class, two from the Freshman class and one each from the Women's and Men's Resident and Non-Resident Leagues, the Student Council, a member of the Associated Student Governments of the State Teachers Colleges of Pennsylvania, regulates the academic and social life of the student body. Convening monthly in the commuters' Lounge, the Council selects the Cultural Life programs, sponsors social affairs of the school which includes buying recordings, elects the student members of Who's Who and the delegates to the various student conferences. This organization promotes cooperation among the students, faculties, and the administration in consideration of school problems which pertain to scholarship, school life, community relationship, and protessional development. Matters of student conduct and welfare are referred to it by the President of the College or the Faculty Committee, and the Council tries to solve these problems as they see fit. Dan Whitmyre is the sponsor of the Council.

ADVISORY BOARD

Three Seniors, three Juniors, two Sophomores chosen in general election, the presidents of both the Resident and Non-Resident Women's Leagues, a faculty member, and the Assistant Dean of Women make up the Advisory Board which meets twice a month. In addition to studying regulations, making recommendations, and proposing matters to the League for consideration, the Advisory Board, set up by the constitution of the Resident Women's League, also acts on disciplinary problems as they arise

This year the Board has been studying the comparison of the governing codes of other colleges. In considering these, the organization has attempted to make a wise deduction choosing the most fitting and successful for a trial on the Indiana State Teachers College campus. They are striving towards student rather than faculty supervision over the student body. Many cases, brought before the board this year, were solved satisfactorily. Each year the Constitution is revised and any needed corrections are made. The Advisory Board convenes in Miss Kimball's office under the sponsorship of Dr. Dorcas Hall.

All boarding women are automatically members of the Resident Women's League. The government of this group is invested in a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, the Advisory Board, elected by the students, and the Resident Women's League Council made up of all presidents and chairmen of standing committees.

The council, meeting twice each month, discusses problems of social organization and promotes cooperation between the boarding women and the administration. Its aim is to develop responsibility, self control, respect for authority and consideration for others, all contributing factors in more comfortable living conditions. The increasing problem of wartime adjustments in dormitory living has been the major issues facing the League.

During this year the League sponsored monthly teas, an all-school Halloween party, a party for Freshmen, a rummage sale, and the sale of stamps and bonds.

NON-RESIDENT WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Friendship and cooperation is stressed by the Non-Resident Women's League, the governing body of the non-resident students. Meeting monthly in the Commuters' Lounge, various committees carry on the duties assigned them to assist the officers in making a happy living situation. Social functions of the year included a get-acquainted party, fall and spring outings at the Lodge, and an Easter tea. The Christmas season was highlighted by a Christmas party at which wreaths were made for Deshon Hospital. Quite prominent in campus activities, the League showed enthusiasm in the successful rummage sale, Red Cross work, a bond and stamp sale, and the United War Chest Drive in which they collected a large sum.

The Non-Resident Women's League is comprised of one hundred forty-seven students under the sponsorship of Dr. Dorcas Hall.

Musical interlude

ACH new class adds its quota to the cever increasing number of campus beauties; produces its share of those who achieve an outstanding posititon by their readiness to scrve the student body; contributes members from each departinent who have gained recognition by high scholastic honors. As each new group becomes accustomed to campus ways, the student meeting places also become part of life for its members. Yes, college days fill but fleeting hours; students, their honors, their habits, their haunts, are but passing attractions-Atractions of the Hour.

Anna Mae Dennison

Campus Beautics

If a pretty girl is like a melody, I.S.T.C. campus reverberates in a mighty chorus. With a smile and a song "Ellie" captures the heart of her audience "Dutch's" air of sophistication would drive the doorman to writing poetry. You dream about "Lew's" cameo-like beauty. Consider the effect of Betty's ever radiant smile and graceful form upon the waltz composer. Tall, graceful, raven-tressed newcomer is Marge Tiny Toohey, full of poise, is the girl a soldier dreams about. Those "make you want to romance" eyes, a lovely face, and a mellow voice belong to Betty Jo. Try to duplicate the pert nose, dimpled smile, and twinkling eyes of "Stel."

Casual in traditional sweaters as they hurry to classes or stroll leisurely along shaded walks, or exotic in svelte evening dresses, they make striking pictures that more than one army-bound fellow carries along with him as memory material. No china dolls, they do not primp and pose but work and play shoulder to shoulder with their men and women friends.

Indiana has more than its share of outstanding personalities. Of the large number, eight have been chosen as representative by the student body. Their many activities are well known and appreciated by every person who has met them. For those new students who have not had the pleasure of making their acquaintance we present our chosen eight.

Whether you meet him as Billy Lewis, the genial dance orchestra leader who blows a mean trumpet, or William Dovenspike, Music Senior, you can be sure you have met one of the best in music, in thinking, and in personality.

Thunk of the stage on an opening night: the house lights grow dim; the curtains rise to disclose our talented Secondary Junior, Billie Speelman who shows versatility in portraying character roles and knows how to keep others happy.

Sharp witted, talented barıtone of the Music Department, Eugene Hulbert, popular member of the Senior class who was elected to Student Council, is a prominent contributor to many entertainments held in the college.

Lisa Polman's interest in international affairs comes from remembrance of a country that was the victim of unfair international policy. This vice president of I. R. C., and fine Business Education Student is easily recognizable by a soft voice that still carries with it a slight trace of accent.

Betty Rolston, Music Senior and recent recipient of the Alpheus B. Clark Memorial Scholarship, has devoted unlimited time to the Y.W C.A. W.S.S.F., Red Cross, and other work requiring plenty of give in time and energy, and little more than satisfaction in return, but she still finds time to enjoy music and poetry.

Elaine Kautz, Elementary Senior, is gifted with a lovely voice, a unique literary style, and a sparkling smile that has won her many friends. Among her many interests are Y.W.C.A., music, literature, and underprivileged children.

Charming possessor of a lovely soprano voice, Eleanor Wilson has won the sincere admiration of Indiana students as well as of those fortunate people who have heard her sing. An effervescent personality and simple beauty combine to make a young miss who cannot help but succeed in her ambition to become a great singer.

As president of the Resident Women's League, tall, stately Jeanne Boardman directs the business at hand in true executive fashion. Black curly hair, an ever-ready smile, and a soft voice come with Jeanne, an Art Junior and representative to Student Council.

In case you have been wondering about campus beauty queens and per sonalities listed, worry no longer. Any student of I.S T C who has beauty, an outstanding personality, or both is eligible. The beauties and personalities presented on the preceding pages are those people who, in the eyes of the student body, best qualify for these titles At a convocation held in the second semester a ballot was given each student upon which he was to write the names of eight people whom he thought beautiful and eight who were outstanding personalities A careful tabulation of these ballots disclosed the results which are pictured on the pages just passed.

WHO'S WHO

Early in the year the Student Council members from each department met with their respective departmental heads to select students with high scholastic rating and extra-curricular activities outstanding in that department. These were candidates for recognition in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." A minimum of five and a maximum of seven names chosen by each group were submitted to Council members from all six departments. Each member voted upon the slate as a whole, the twenty receiving the highest number of votes being named to the honor.

Any Junior or Senior meeting these standards may be selected The departmental slate is set up by an election held in a meeting of Juniors and Seniors. Each year such a group is chosen as representative of Indiana State Teachers College

I. R.C.

The theme of the International Relations Club this year was post-war planning. Political discussions and open forums were entitled "What Shall We Do With Germany" and "Post-War Education and Treatment of War Criminals in Germany." Other forms consisted of discussions of peace plans, post-war airways, and an international office for culture and education. Reviews of current books concerning this problem such as Sumner Well's "Time for Decision" were given. One of the new service projects was an assembly program entitled "Compulsory Military Conscription." Interesting events which occurred during the year were a conference at Marywood College and an Inter-Cultural Tea Membership in the I.R.C. is selective. Its influence on campus this year has been the posting of the I.R.C. News Bulletin in which the major headlines of the day are included.

FLIGHT

IGANTIC bird that wings through distant skies,
Proud monster swooping downward toward the earth,
Perfection of machine that glorifies

Man's ingenuity, proving his worth
As master builder! As you swoop through space,
The sunlight glitters on your silver frame,
A perfect complement to your lithe grace.
Men envy you, honor you, speak your fame,
And yearn to wing through cloudless skies of bluc
Secluded from the anguished world below.
Once I too felt impersonal pride in you-
NOW hate and anger and fear within me grow.
Why do I loathe the plane that flies above?
Because it robbed me of my one true love.

"Over There," a popular song twenty-six years ago, can still strike an alltime high with so many of our Minute Men and Women "Over There." Indiana is proud of the fact that through the untiring efforts of Mr. Boyts and his committee bits of news and gossip are reported in our Newsletter reaching every continent of this far stretched globe. She is even prouder of her large family of young men and women devoting their time and lives for the right to keep her campus filled with the smiles, tears, joys, and sorrows they knew as part of their life here. She is ever mindful of the sacrifices, hardships, and discomforts they are suffering

A Typical Day in the Life of a Student Nurse at Indiana

From the beginning of the war, Indiana has been cooperating with several hospitals in western Pennsylvanıa to assist in teaching young women the basic sciences in nursing Since September, 1942, there have been five groups of student nurses on the campus taking preclinical training

That last bit of cromeming

A letter from him ${ }^{2}$
Dressed for porade.

The cots!
Friendly conference with Mrs. Dumm.

The day of a cadet nurse begins when she rises at 6:30 for breakfast in the college dining room; by 8:00 o'clock she reports for her first class, Microbiology. At 10:00 a pick-up at the Dell is fortification for Chemistry lab. Then Anatomy and Physiology, Psychology, Sociology, and Nutrition fill the afternoon; an hour of leisure, then dinner. By 6:30 the student nurse enjoys a well earned recreation often in the form of dancing in Recrea tion Hall or a bull session in her room. During the week evenings are spent in preparing lessons for the twenty semester hours, although necessary and worthwhile, are a heavy burden. When 11:00 rolls around the cadets are quite ready for bed

The student nurses are eligible to participate in all the campus functions. Athletics, lectures, entertainment, dancing, and social privileges of the campus are shared with the boarding students.

Gaod night, sweet dreams.

We who have remained at home have real ized the necessity of participating more in those activities which are directed to the war effort. Our job has been a small one compared to the sacrifices our former classmates are making on the battle fronts, but we are trying our best to do that which is asked of us. When in November the first call for blood donors came, Indiana more than filled the Red Cross quota We felt it was the least we could do for those men who have been wounded fighting for our safety. Each week bond and stamp sales were held with a sorority, fraternity, club, or class in charge of the booth. Those students who were not selling sacrificed a little more to buy an extra stamp or two.

And it got results!

Selling bands and stamps.

During the winter, the World Student Service Fund Drive was also well supported. The money donated by our students to the fund was sent to foreign countries to help supply other scholars with the necessary books and equipment to continue their education.

Other tasks, as making wreaths at Christmas time for the windows of Deshon Hospital and mailing Newsletters and Penns to Indiana's students in the service were also welcomed activities. In these small ways, we tried to do our part in making life a little better and more pleasant for those about us.

N A PAR with the speed of the split-second shots are the services rendered by our patrons. Indiana students gratefully acknowledge the courtesies that are extended to them yearly. For Split Second Service we recommend our patrons.

Lights - Action - Camera! "That's all, thank you." "Ah, there's a shot I want but I'll have to take it fast." And so another candid is taken. A split-second shot! Indian summer, snow days, spring, our photographers carried their heavy cameras waiting for that opportune moment, that unusual scene. And not in vain as you, dear reader, may discern. Found yourself?

And one was high of the Hallowe'en party. The assistant editor came to this.

IT DONT MUSS THINGS OR SCATTER INK BLOTS AROUND

Mark Twain wrote a memorable. letter one day in 187.1-his fret use of his new Remington Morlel 1 "Type-Writer". In the Cothir capitals which wate all the machite would print, he typed:

I SAW THE THING IN BOSTON THE other day & was greatly taken WITH IT. It has several VIrtues. I believe It will paint faster than o can write. one MAY LEAN BACK IN HIS CHAIR & WORK IT. IT PILES AN AWFUL STACK OF WOROS ON ONE PAGE. It DONT MUSS THINGS OR SCATTER INK blots around. of course it SAVES PAPER.

This 7l-yearoold tribule has been followed by tholisands of others. For kemington lealer-ship. through all the wars since Mark 'Twain's day, has been wromuled ou fundamentals: orig. inal ragimerring superb mannfacturing. world-wille markeling.
litule wouder, then, that more Remingtons have been horght than any other make.
little wonder, too. that thon. sands of lingers are itching to try the keys of a new Remingon

Rand Vodel Semmeen. For news has spread, from the Armed Farces, the war plants, the essential inclustrios who are almorling onr current production, that Rem. ington Rand has done it again... adding a now lightning action, a new feather touch, to a machine already superlative in performallece. The word is: "A new Seventern is worth watiting for!"

"In betwixt and between."
